6. Are there other things you would like to say about the instructor or the course?

1. Which projects or assignments did you find valuable? Which could be improved upon?

I found the assignments all to be pretty useful for later on. The feasibility study was a lot of work but very useful. The first assignment was sort of unnecessary but I understand the lessons it taught.

2. Describe how your view of writing changed as a result of WRT 307.

It didn't really, I just refined my writing skills again.

3. What elements of WRT 307 helped you think rhetorically about navigating workplace situations and documents?

Working in a group that is like me was useful. I learned to work more formally.

4. What assignment or assignments challenged you the most, and in what ways were you challenged?

feasibility study. For sure because of extensive research, felt like a business project.

6. Are there other things you would like to say about the instructor or the course?

Great person, lovable, loves to laugh.
Seems very fair, but again can't tell because of lack of grade feedback. Great person and good instructor.

extremely well
but I have NO CLUE!

1. Which projects or assignments did you find valuable? Which could be improved upon?

- All assignments were very essential and helpful to making my writing more professional
- No improvement needed
- The scholarly emails & presentations were extremely valuable

2. Describe how your view of writing changed as a result of WRT 307.

- WRT 307 showed me a more professional standpoint of writing which was different from my other years of writing.

3. What elements of WRT 307 helped you think rhetorically about navigating workplace situations and documents?

- Email writing, memos
- Presentations

4. What assignment or assignments challenged you the most, and in what ways were you challenged?

- The <sup>feasibility report</sup> presentation gave me a more challenging way to present <sup>my</sup> writing in a professional manner.

6. Are there other things you would like to say about the instructor or the course?

- This instructor really cares about his students and makes sure that we are understanding the material.
- He tries his best to make time for his students and make sure they are producing their best work.

1. Which projects or assignments did you find valuable? Which could be improved upon?

All were valuable and interesting

2. Describe how your view of writing changed as a result of WRT 307.

Brett has opened my mind to think more critically

3. What elements of WRT 307 helped you think rhetorically about navigating workplace situations and documents?

- organization of various formal documents
- how to address different individuals
- how to alter tone/professionalism

4. What assignment or assignments challenged you the most, and in what ways were you challenged?

Unit 3 Feasibility Study Project because I had never done/seen one before

6. Are there other things you would like to say about the instructor or the course?

Brett is <sup>an</sup> incredible teacher and person!

1. Which projects or assignments did you find valuable? Which could be improved upon?

The projects that helped us write emails, menus and ~~cover letters~~ <sup>cover letters</sup>.

I wish we could have had more time to improve our resumes.

2. Describe how your view of writing changed as a result of WRT 307.

WRT 307 has helped me see writing from a more professional and formal level.

3. What elements of WRT 307 helped you think rhetorically about navigating workplace situations and documents?

Communication, presentation of our work helped me understand there are two levels of professional writing - the written words + the way the content is communicated.

4. What assignment or assignments challenged you the most, and in what ways were you challenged?

The final project was difficult to approach + start but after meeting with him, we were able to find our way and had more content to work with.

You're the man. Keep doing you bro

1. Which projects or assignments did you find valuable? Which could be improved upon?

The most valuable project in my mind was the feasibility study because it incorporated writing, research and group work. We were able to take what we had learned, memos and email format, and use it in practice.

2. Describe how your view of writing changed as a result of WRT 307.

I realized that not all writing had to be essay format. Even the shortest writing there can be a lot of format rules.

3. What elements of WRT 307 helped you think rhetorically about navigating workplace situations and documents?

I've learned how to write to a certain audience and get across a purpose.

4. What assignment or assignments challenged you the most, and in what ways were you challenged?

The feasibility project was most challenging, as it was the largest assignment that needed the most amount of work.

6. Are there other things you would like to say about the instructor or the course?

great teacher

1. Which projects or assignments did you find valuable? Which could be improved upon?

I liked the professional writing assignments of composing a memoir/biography. The feasibility and study was tedious but also fun. nothing improved!

2. Describe how your view of writing changed as a result of WRT 307.

I was able to develop my professionalism and research skills during the feasibility study.

3. What elements of WRT 307 helped you think rhetorically about navigating workplace situations and documents?

composing a memo and targeting your specific audience

4. What assignment or assignments challenged you the most, and in what ways were you challenged?

Feasibility study was the most challenging because of time and effort necessary to construct all the components

Great guy!

1. Which projects or assignments did you find valuable? Which could be improved upon?

I thought the first assignment was practical/useful in real-life situations. I also thought the research associated with the final project was valuable for future projects.

2. Describe how your view of writing changed as a result of WRT 307.

I've never really thought this much about the professional side of writing, so I'm more cognizant of it now.

3. What elements of WRT 307 helped you think rhetorically about navigating workplace situations and documents?

Going over the textbook chapters as a class & focusing on different audiences

4. What assignment or assignments challenged you the most, and in what ways were you challenged?

The final assignment was really in-depth, but in a good way

6. Are there other things you would like to say about the instructor or the course?

Great personality and has a bright future.

1. Which projects or assignments did you find valuable? Which could be improved upon?

The feasibility study was valuable because it was an interesting way to learn about the community, and trying to improve it.

Handing back of grades could have been done better.

2. Describe how your view of writing changed as a result of WRT 307.

I have a more professional outlook and better understanding of what that means.

3. What elements of WRT 307 helped you think rhetorically about navigating workplace situations and documents?

As I stated above, it has made reading and writing professional and formal documents much more comfortable.

4. What assignment or assignments challenged you the most, and in what ways were you challenged?

The memo memos were tough at first because I struggled with the format.
